

Wendell Ladner apparent victim of Eastern Airline crash

New York Nets pro basketball star Wendell Ladner was apparently among the victims of an Eastern Airlines 727 jetliner which crashed, exploded and plowed across a busy boulevard Tuesday on the fringe of Kennedy International Airport, killing 110 of the 123 persons on board.

Eastern Airlines confirmed that a "W. Ladner" was on board the ill-fated flight and a New York Nets gym bag was found among the wreckage of the crash site.

Ladner's parents, Mr. and Mrs.

Aaron Ladner, also confirmed that their son had been home visiting family members and had been taken to New Orleans Airport by his sister, Mrs. Shirley Cuevas for the return trip to New York.

Ladner had recently finished work as an instructor at a University of Southern Mississippi basketball camp a week and a half ago and had spent the last few days visiting with his parents at the Ladner home in Necaise Crossing.

A native of Hancock County, Ladner had built a reputation as a hustling, solid basketball player since he began his trek to the pros as a player for Hancock North Central High School.

A standout at Hancock North Central, Ladner went on to establish more records at the University of Southern Mississippi where during a three-year varsity career he cracked the school's all-time career rebounding record with 1,256 caroms and a 16.5 average.

He became USM's scoring leader for a three-year career and ranked fourth on the all-time scoring list. He had his most productive season as a junior when he averaged 22.4 points and hit 53.2 percent from the floor.

At 6'5" and 220 pounds, Ladner was a natural for the pros and was listed among the top 25 pro prospects by The Sporting News.

He became the Memphis Pro's number two draft choice in the ABA in 1970 after he graduated from USM. In his first season as a pro, he made the league's All-Rookie team.

He was traded to the Carolina Cougars midway through his second season but was traded back to Memphis at the end of the 1971 season.

Ladner was again traded to the Kentucky Colonels in the 1973-74 season where he played for the late Babe McCarthy again and finally was sent along with Mike Gale to the Nets for John Roche.

Nets Coach Kevin Loughery heard about the plane crash on television, "and I kept hoping he wasn't on the plane. There's just no reason why a young man like him, so full of life, had to die at 26."

Colonels owner Ellie Brown called Ladner exemplary of everything good about pro basketball.

Hancock supervisors ordered to levy two mill tax for loan repayment

By ANITA DINWIDDIE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors must levy a two mill tax to repay $675,000 in Hurricane Camille disaster loan money according to a ruling Friday by the State Commission of Budget and Accounting in Jackson.

State Budget Director Francis Geoghegan said Tuesday that the commission had no authority to order the levy until the loan was actually in default August 3 but suggested that the levy be passed soon. The Hancock board has never submitted a plan for repayment of the loan that was due June 6.

"I am not at all surprised that the commission has ordered us to levy the tax," board president A.A. Kellar said late Tuesday.

"I knew that they were going to get their money one way or another whether we came up with a plan or not, and I tried to tell the other board members that. Now we will just have to do what they tell us to do."

Supervisors H. Bully Zengarleng and James Travirca agreed with Kellar that two mills would have to be dedicated to repay the loan. Travirca had attempted at a meeting earlier in the month to pass a resolution dedicating the two mills, but the motion failed on a tie vote. Travirca had said at the time that he thought the money could be paid back without raising the county's taxes, but by cutting the budget to make the payments.

Zengarleng said Tuesday he felt the money should be repaid but added he personally felt no responsibility developing a repayment plan.

"I have always said that it was a debt that would have to be paid and I always urged the board to pay it back, but I have also felt that it should be the responsibility of the ones who spent it to come up with a plan for paying the money back."

Bay revenue sharing earmarked for drainage

Bay St. Louis Mayor Warren Carver said this week that the city plans to spend an expected $123,500 in general revenue sharing funds allocated to it for the year beginning July 1, 1975 and ending June 30, 1976 on major drainage projects within the community.

Carver said, however, that no decision had been reached as to what areas or what sections of the city would be included in the drainage work. City engineers Burk & Associates are expected to develop proposals for the city in the near future.

Without these revenue sharing funds, Carver said no drainage projects could be undertaken due to a lack of sufficient local funds.

The mayor said that at the present the council feels the city's drainage problem to be the most serious matter needing immediate attention.

"Of course," Carver said, "the council can change its mind as to where this money is going, but actually there is very little chance of that happening." Carver said, however, if the city did change its mind on the planned use that no public notice was required.

A copy of the planned use report that the city is required to submit to the U. S. Treasury Department, Office of Revenue Sharing appeared in the Echo under date of June 19, 1975.

Records documenting the plan are open for public inspection at city hall from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. on Monday through Friday. Public notice and availability of revenue sharing expenditure plans is required by the State and Local Fiscal Assistance Act of 1972, which authorizes revenue sharing.

Citizens or groups wishing to make known their views about the proposed expenditures should appear before the city council at any of the regularly scheduled council sessions on the first and third Monday of each month at 10 a.m.

General revenue sharing is a $30.2 billion, five year program which returns a portion of federal taxes to state and local governments for local spending programs within broad federal guidelines.

Ellisville youth drowns in Jourdan River

A 19-year-old Ellisville youth drowned Monday after apparently tiring on an attempted swim from the south to north banks of the Jourdan River off Highway 603.

Witnesses said the youth, identified as Andrew Atwood, motioned for help from his brother and friends on the bank before he disappeared below the surface of the water at 4:15 p.m. Monday.

Rescue efforts by the Mississippi Water Safety Patrol, the Hancock County Civil Defense, and Harrison County Sheriff's Department divers were conducted until 7:20 p.m. when the body was recovered.

A coroner's jury composed of Melvin Barnes, Richard Pate, J. T. Jacobs, James Harrell, Leo Woods, and Charles Carter ruled death by accidental drowning.

Witnesses said Atwood was swimming from the south to the north bank of the river in the Jourdan River Shores vicinity when he apparently tired and attempted to swim back to the south bank.

The victim's brother Steve Atwood attempted to rescue him after he motioned for help but was unable to reach him.

State Water Patrol officer James Harrell said that the river contained strong undercurrents and had become dangerous for any swimmers since Hurricane Camille.

Nephew held in Coleman death

Hancock County Sheriff's officers booked a 25-year-old Bay St. Louis man with murder Friday for the shooting death of his uncle William J. Coleman, 46, whose body was found partially buried in a shallow grave in Ansley last April 20.

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said that the body of Coleman, whose address was given as 3105 East 37th Street, Chattanooga, Tenn., was identified by the victim's wife from tattoos and rings on the victim and confirmed by lab specialists with the FBI.

The body, which a coroner's inquest ruled had been dead four to six weeks before it was discovered by a hunter in the Ansley area, was found after rains apparently washed portions of the shallow grave away.

Death had come from multiple gunshot wounds from a .25 calibre pistol. Authorities said the victim had been shot three times over the right eye, once over the heart, and once over the right ear. Sheriff Ladner said Tuesday that authorities had not yet recovered any murder weapon.

The victim's nephew, David Caldwell, whose address was given as 105 Crisco Court, was arrested by sheriff's officers after witnesses informed authorities that the two men had argued on the day Coleman was last seen.

Ladner said Caldwell was arrested at 3:15 a.m. Saturday morning after officers posted a stakeout at Caldwell's home.

Coleman had reportedly been visiting in the Hancock County area for about a week before he disappeared. Ladner said the victim had no known address while he was in the county.

Caldwell was being held without bond Tuesday in the Hancock County jail. A preliminary hearing has been scheduled for July 2 before Judge Donald Carr.

He attended Mississippi State University where he received a B. S. degree in sales and marketing.

He is a native of Hazelhurst, Miss. where he and his wife, Carlene, reside with their three sons.

Hancock chamber invites business prospects to "Come live with us"

A new slogan for the citizens of Hancock County, "Come Live With Us - the people of Hancock County" has emerged as the official invitation for progress to come to the county, said Perry Gibson, president of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

Gibson outlined a series of programs being undertaken by members of the chamber with the object of improving conditions in the county and attracting new business to settle here.

"The chamber is primarily operated on volunteer labor," Gibson said. "All of the committees are headed by our members who work as unpaid volunteers because they are interested in bettering the community as a whole."

An example of a committee working to promote Hancock County is the brochure committee headed by Mrs. Anita Lamb. The committee is presently involved in the publication of a 16-page color brochure promoting Hancock County which should be available at the end of July. Working with Mrs. Lamb on the project are Mrs. Nell Ducomb, editor of the Mississippi Monitor, and chamber member Jay Triche.

"The brochure tells the story of Hancock County historically and presently," said Chamber manager Max Berns. "I think it will be a very impressive project when it is complete."

Other chamber projects designed to promote interest in Hancock County are underway in the committee for area development. The committee chaired by Edward Hall, publisher of the Sea Coast Echo, has already completed two major projects, a color slide presentation on Hancock County to be shown at local civic meetings, at travel conventions and to prospective industries, and two billboards sporting the new slogan "Come Live With Us - the people of Hancock County" at the eastern and western ends of the county on Highway 90.

Other projects in the works for the area development committee are the creation of a portable wall display on tourism, recreation and family living in Hancock County to be displayed at convention centers such as the Mississippi Trade Mart in Jackson and the Rivergate in New Orleans. The committee also plans to send to prospective industries a package of brochures on the Port and Harbor facilities, Diamondhead and the county in general. Color postcards depicting scenes of Hancock County will also be distributed along the coast as part of an advertising campaign that will include newspaper, magazine, and radio.

Other members of the area development committee are Perry Gibson, Don Moore, Harmon Turan, Paul Montjoy, Ron Griffin, E. J. Marengo and Gerald A. Beinvenu.

The industrial development committee, also chaired by Edward Hall, is charged with encouraging industry to locate in Hancock County. The committee is in the process of making contacts with industrial prospects and informing them of the facilities offered at Port Bienville Industrial Park and Stennis International Airport.

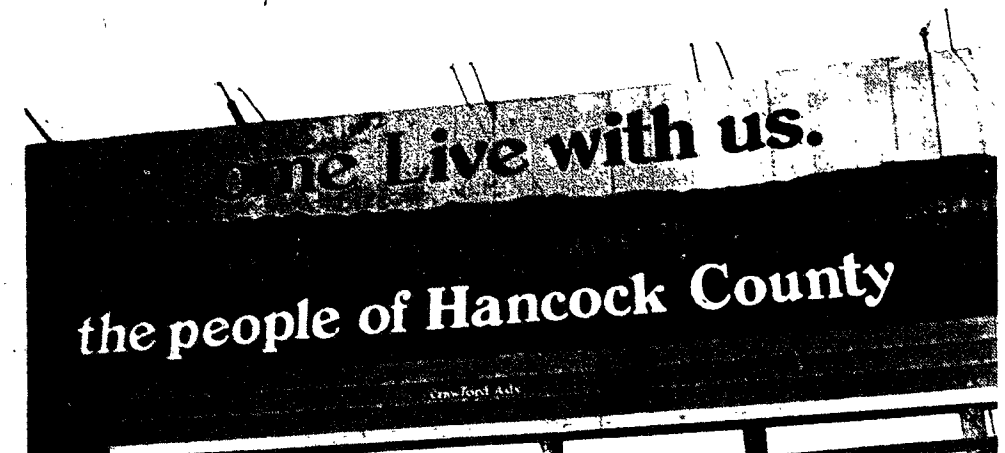

The committee is also in the process of aiding a new industry, Medical Methods, in obtaining information on possible funding for development of a specially designed wheelchair. Members of the industrial committee are Smoke Lechler of Alcan Cable, Sonny Bailey of Bailey Electric, Dr. Michael Smith of Amco Construction, Donald Presley of South Central Bell and Wilson Webre director of the Port and Harbor.

Another project begun by past president E. J. Marengo is the hospitality station which will be located at the intersection of Highway 43 and 603. The station is a joint project of the Mississippi Highway Department and the Agricultural and Industrial Board with the help of the Chamber of Commerce and is scheduled for completion sometime next year.

In addition to the promotion of Hancock County, the chamber is also involved with other coast communities in the activities of the Positive Economic Programs Committee chaired by Roland Weeks of Gulfport. The next PEP event will be a banquet July 9 at the Broadwater Beach with guest speaker Secretary of the Treasury William Simon. Tickets for the dinner are presently available in the chamber office at $12.50 per person.

"I really feel this year's board of directors are really taking an active interest in promoting the county in every way possible," said Gibson, "both by working on our own projects and by supporting statewide projects such as the PEP committee."

Inviting slogan

This billboard located at the intersection of Highway 90 and Henderson Point in Pass Christian is part of an area promotion campaign sponsored by the Hancock County

Chamber of Commerce. An identical billboard will be located on the western end of the county at the intersection of highways 90 and 607.

New Orleans driver causes two accidents in Long Beach

Two Long Beach residents received minor injuries Sunday when a car driven by a New Orleans man struck two vehicles in separate locations within four minutes according to Long Beach police.

Walter K. Morris, 20, of 1430 Phillip St., New Orleans was charged with leaving the scene of an accident, driving while under the influence of alcohol, speeding and failing to yield to blue lights and siren, police said.

The first incident occurred at 6:10 a.m. when Morris allegedly struck a car driven by Norman A. Stanbro, 29, 4 Jamie Circle, Long Beach. Stanbro said he was heading toward the intersection of Klondyke and Larosa when Morris hit him from the rear and then continued southward.

At 6:14 a.m. Morris struck the front end of a 1965 Rambler driven by Fieldon Sewell, 68, Box 238, Reinke Road, Long Beach. Police said Morris hit the second car while making a wide turn at the intersection of Pineville and Railroad Street.

Morris was stopped at Alexander and Railroad by Long Beach police officers who observed Morris driving away from the second accident. He was booked at Harrison County jail on $365 bond.

Long Beach rescue units responded to the accident scenes and administered first aid to Morris, Stanbro and Sewell.

Vandalism mars McLeod State Park

Vandalism has already begun to mar one of Hancock County's newest additions, McLeod State Park, Ace

No longer of value

This valuable Dogwood was cut for firewood by some campers in McLeod State Park. Cutting trees in a state

Jones, park superintendent, reported last week.

Jones said he had found continuous abuse of the park facilities and cases of malicious vandalism ever since the park was opened to the public last month.

Some examples of the vandalism reported by Jones include garbage dumpings on the park property, theft of trees from the park and malicious destruction of trees. "I caught one lady taking a magnolia tree once," Jones said, "and when I told her it was illegal, she told me she didn't see anything wrong in taking one wild magnolia tree. She looked so innocent, too. I guess people don't realize that when they steal from the park, they are just stealing from themselves."

Jones reported that he had also caught young boys in the park cutting valuable dogwood trees for firewood. "I guess the worst thing I have found is the amount of garbage being dumped in the park," Jones said. "That is what is really frustrating because it is so thoughtless. That's what we have dumps for, I don't know why people would want to drive up here to dump their garbage."

The superintendent reported that he had found several instances where local residents had deliberately used the park grounds to dump their garbage. He said that warnings had been issued to the people he had caught up to now, but that if the abuse continues he will report the violators to the sheriff's office. The fine for littering in Mississippi is $50.

"We plan to put a 24 hour guard out at the park," Jones said, "and if we catch anybody, we are going to prosecute, I don't care who it is."

Jones said he had also found some instances of visitors to the park using firearms in the parks - a violation of state law. "We can't tolerate that," Jones said. "I found some kids lining up tin cans and shooting at them, and this is clearly against the law. You aren't even supposed to have an air gun in the park."

The superintendent issued a warning to all visitors to the park that further instances of vandalism would be prosecuted to the limits of the law.

It's just so frustrating," Jones said. "We have the most beautiful park here that I have ever seen and we are planning more additions for our people to enjoy. I can't understand why anyone would want to destroy it in this way."

Minor injuries result in train, car collision

An accident involving an L&N train and a car Saturday morning in Waveland resulted in only minor injuries for the two passengers of the car reported Waveland patrolman Terry Holmes.

The car driven by Anthony J. Sconza, resident of New Orleans and summer resident of Clermont Harbor, was knocked off the track into the incline beside Nicholson Ave. at 9:10 a.m. Saturday by an L&N train which was moving through the crossing, Holmes said.

Sconza and his nine-year-old sister Trudy were taken by Mobile Medic to Hancock General Hospital. Sconza was treated for a broken collar bone and his sister for bruises and minor injuries.

No tickets were issued to either party. Investigating officers were Police Chief Donald Dorn, and patrolmen Bill Edkins and Terry Holmes.

Applications being accepted for postal clerk-carrier

Waveland Postmaster W. F. Turcotte Jr. announced

Monday that applications for examination for a position as postal clerk-carrier will be accepted from June 26 thru July 7 at the Waveland Post Office.

Turcotte said the examination is to establish a register of eligibles from which appointments for clerks or carrier positions will be made for that office only. Application forms are available at the Waveland Post Office. The completed forms must be returned prior to the closing date, 5 p.m., July 7.

Health center schedules open house

The Hancock County Health Department will hold open house at the health center from 9 to 11 a.m. Friday, June 27, following completion of the renovation project.

Director Louis H. Jobe said the Hancock County Board of Supervisors had been invited to attend the opening.

Senseless destruction

McLeod Park Superintendent Ace Jones looks in disgust at the pile of trash left by a visitor to the new state park. Jones said the park has been plagued with vandalism since its opening last month making it necessary to place a 24 hour guard at the park.

Chamber plans membership drive

Plans for the annual membership drive of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce set for July 14 - 21 were formulated at a chamber board of directors meeting Tuesday.

Five teams have been formed to contact the 290 prospective members during the week long campaign. The team and the individual member signing up the most new members will be recognized at a membership banquet which will follow the campaign.

The chamber is also planning a luncheon at Diamondhead County Club in honor of Miss Stephen Winnard, its selection to represent the Burglary is a crime against property and is generally committed during the night time. In fact the Uniform Crime Reports reflect that about 70 percent of residences and 90 percent of non-resident burglaries are committed in the night time. The crime of Burglary is frequently aggravated by a greater crime, such as Rape, Murder and Robbery.

Hancock County lies in between two large populated areas, the Gulf Coast area of Harrison County and the City of New Orleans. Incidentally, the Greater New Orleans Metropolitan area is considered a high incidence crime area by the F.B.I., with Burglary a high point in the total crime pattern.

Aside from the local based felons, many of the burglaries in our area are committed by the professional felons of other areas. It now becomes necessary to educate our law-enforcement officers along the professional standards of other first-rate police agencies. In order to cope with this particular crime, very close co-operation with other departments in side by side training and constant swapping of criminal intelligence data is necessary to pinpoint the location and movements of burglars in our general area, if we are to control this particular facet of crime.

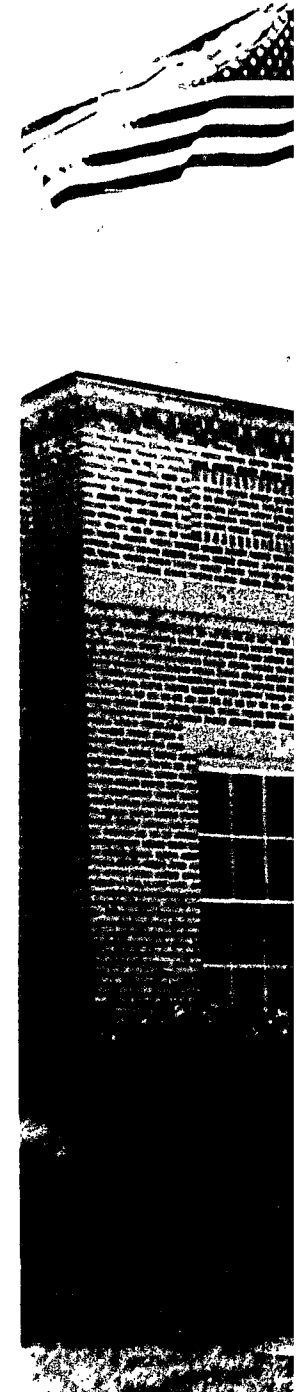

My aim is to have at least one officer so trained, for a starter, with others to follow. I fully intend that Hancock County shall have a professionally oriented Sheriff's Department.

If you subscribe to this type of law enforcement agency, kindly lend me your support by voting for me.

Respectively,

Finding post office was the hardest part

Editor's Note: The article on the Bay St. Louis Post Office is part of a continuing series of articles of historical interest written for the Sea Coast Echo by Ms. Joe Pilet relative to Hancock County and the Gulf Coast area. All rights reserved.

By JOE PILET

The post office for Bay St. Louis before the year 1882 was located on a pier — a novel building on the land yet over the water! Eldredge McArthur was the postmaster. And then there were the years from 1882 until the present post office building was erected in 1936, when postal service seemed to be a sort of "checker game" with locations to suit the convenience of the postmaster or postmistress, as the case might be.

In 1882 we have a record of Miss Annie Avery, postmistress, serving the community from her home on Union Street. Four years later and with Miss Ella E. Iorns in charge, the postal service was from the corner of Beach & Bookter Avenue — home of Miss Iorns — where one entered from the end of a porch to get to the "business window."

Six years later, 1892 — a red letter day for Bay St. Louis! The post office advanced to third class! Harrison was President of the United States and postmaster general was one John Wanamaker. Louis J. Parnas, a negro, was appointed as postmaster. The post office was then located on the beach front. Through the years it was sort of "touch and go" with Parnas. When the Republican Party was in — Parnas was in. Apparently Parnas did a good job and was well liked. It wasn't a racial issue. It was political.

While Grover Cleveland, a Democrat, was in office Joseph E. Saucier was appointed postmaster. But when McKinley, a Republican, came to power, Parnas was back in the post office!

Following McKinley, Grover Cleveland makes a come-back and Joseph E. Saucier is again appointed by his congressman to serve. In 1902 and again in 1906 Teddy Roosevelt was in power and Louis J. Parnas served as postmaster in Bay St. Louis. The tie — or monotony — was broken when Richard Mendes was recommended under the Taft administration. Later A. R. Hart, a local newspaperman, became postmaster under President Harding's administration. Why Hart resigned isn't clear, but one Harry C. Glover was appointed to replace him. At this point the post office got a permanent home. A lot on Main Street costing the government $4,500 was purchased and Dye and Mullins of Columbia, contractors, completed the post office building at a cost of $32,709. July 25, 1936 was "moving day." Leo G. Ford postmaster served a term of four years and then under civil service had an appointment for life. Mail was delivered to six "star routes" — and seven trains daily.

The post office, recently renovated, is a sturdy and solid building. The fact that there is plenty of parking space for mail delivery trucks speaks highly of the forethought of designers — building costs have certainly escalated since the 1936 construction ... but for that matter so have the price of postage stamps ... parcel post and twine string! One thing hasn't changed, however, our postmaster and his force of workmen are as courteous and helpful as ever.

The Record Is Clear!

I have always cast my vote in the best interest of the people of Hancock County.

Anytime I saw waste and mismanagement of the taxpayers money during the past three-and-one-half years, I voted against it. And, I am proud of that vote. Even when I stood alone, which was most of the time, I stood my ground for the taxpayers of the County.

JERRY LADNER IS AGAINST WASTE — HE IS FOR GETTING A FAIR DEAL FOR THE PEOPLE

LISTED BELOW IS A SMALL SAMPLING OF THE RESOLUTIONS I FOUGHT ON BEHALF OF THE PEOPLE OF HANCOCK COUNTY.

AGAINST — A motion to award a bid to add two rooms on the Health Center at a cost of $26,262.00 (Book 5, pg. 402). In my opinion the bids were entirely too high, and I felt that a local contractor had been discriminated against.

AGAINST — A motion for a change order on the same Health Center project to install 3 lavatories at an additional cost of $1,286.82. Two of the three lavatories were to be furnished by the Health Center (Book 5, pg. 583.)

AGAINST — A resolution to permit the Port & Harbor Commission to purchase 228.324 acres of land from the International Paper Company for $750.00 per acre for a total cost of $171,243.00, when the highest qualified appraisal was $450.00 per acre or a total cost of $88,299.15. It was my opinion that the Port & Harbor Commission should have filed suit and let a Hancock County jury decide a fair price for the property. (Book 6, pg. 19)

LISTED BELOW IS A SMALL SAMPLING OF THE RESOLUTIONS THAT I MADE TO SAVE THE TAXPAYERS MONEY.

THESE RESOLUTIONS FAILED:

MOTION — To accept the lowest bidder for culverts. The motion was lost and the Board refused to enter the motion on the minutes of the meeting. (Feb. 1974 Minutes). The Board then voted to accept all the bids, regardless of cost.

MOTION — To advertise for bids for the maintenance of the air conditioning system at the courthouse. Motion lost. (Book 5, pg. 583). Immediately following this, a motion was made to award a contract to an out-of-county firm, without the benefit of competitive bids, for $360.00 per year. I voted against this motion.

MOTION — To reject a bill for payment on equipment to Holliman's Equipment Co., for $4,156.01, because the equipment was not being kept up according to agreement. (Book 5, pg. 539.) Another motion was made by another supervisor to pay the bill and the motion carried. I voted against it. (This was a Beat One bill).

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

A century and a quarter ago, Jackson, the capital city of Mississippi, reached its zenith as the most progressive and enterprising of all Southern ante-bellum centers rivaled only by its neighboring Crescent City. In the decade from 1850 to 1860, Jackson metamorphosed from a frontier town to a full-fledged city of the Old South. Her instincts and prevailing philosophies were those of the planter, a brisk enterprise overlaying a conservative culture to result in a social and economic development unique among cities in the Cotton Kingdom of the time. In one short decade Jackson plunged ahead like a boom town. More than forty stores and small manufacturing plants were operating on State street south of Capital street, selling groceries, dry goods, clothing, hardware and liquors as well as jewelry, books, drugs and musical instruments. Nearby on State street was the area known as Cheapside, and adjoining it on Pearl street was the provision area called Greasy Row.

The most important factory in Jackson was built in 1853 to make osenaburgs and linseys. Some of its operating costs were interesting when compared with today's prices: men workers were paid 75 cents per day; girls, 50 cents; boys, 40 cents; superintendent $3.75. Cotton was bought for 6 cents a pound and the finished osenaburgs sold for 9 cents per pound, wool cost 18 cents a pound and the linseys sold for 25 cents per yard. Board for negro hands was 21 cents each per day and 30 cents per day for white workers. The daily profit was $61.54, which was 15 percent net on the capital invested.

Products furnished by other factories were steam engines, saw mills, plows and farm equipment. All kinds of marble work, carriages and wagons, saddles and harnesses, engraving, mirrors and window shades, rifles and hunting equipment.

Among Jackson's retail stores in the ante-bellum years were four which kept the ladies supplied with everything from candles and spices to the latest Paris styles in millinery. The largest drugstore was Morey's, which, like the drugstores of today, sold just about everything including jewelry, clocks, pianos, toys, kerosene lamps and patent medicines. Of the latter, one of the most popular in the 1850's was Dr. Hooftland's German Bitters, recommended for stomach disorders and great depressions of the spirit.

Sunday, June 22nd, a fine Beagle pet was struck down by a vehicle, on Dunbar and Carroll Ave., result, a screaming, tortured dog in mortal agony and the nearby concerned citizens, neighbors, trying desperately for help. A veterinarian was repeatedly called without success; the police of Bay St. Louis were called; no help from them, they mentioned "Dennis Farve was the Bay Warden, who should take over the situation."

The Humane Society was already in a great up stir, trying to get help, to put the crying, crushed animal to sleep, as an act of mercy.

I've heard of police shooting dogs in other less serious, tragic situations, yet none would respond.

I've been told the Bay Dog Warden leaves every week end, far out of town and cannot be contacted.

Seems to me the Mayor and Commissioners should appoint someone to take over in such pitiful emergencies.

The Humane Society called on Mr. Larry Lavoie, a man of fine human

We have higher gasoline prices.

We have politicians that won't pay back loans made by Camille because the people wouldn't pass their bond issues and one of the lawyers says keep the money that's because he didn't get his cut out the Bond Issues so now the people will have to pay so as to keep their homestead exemption.

Now wait until they tell the people what they need for schools in Waveland. I guess everybody will want to leave Waveland and come as a tourist.

We don't have no place to work here so as to help pay our taxes but they will tell you they're working on that.

We vote people in thinking they will help us but they turn out to be yes men.

Washington Report

Remember that bundle of money you spent on food last month? An eligible family of four can buy as much as $154 worth of the same groceries with food stamps.

And by July 1, they can buy as much as $182 worth.

If you choke on that as much as I did when I first heard it, you'll probably like the National Food Stamp Reform Act of 1975, which I co-sponsored this week in the House of Representatives. It's designed to restrict the program to those low-income families who desperately need help.

If you're looking for more convincing evidence that the program is being flagrantly abused, the following is an example.

The executive city editor of the Atlanta Constitution, with a $40,000 house, three-acre lot, two late-model autos, and a salary of more than $400 a week, found that he was eligible for food stamps. He didn't take them, but he drove home his point loud and clear. The food stamp program, he now contends, is another over-blown bureaucratic monster rampaging out of control.

A recent congressional study revealed that 51 per cent of those eligible for food stamps last year had incomes above the poverty line. It also found that one of every 10 Americans will be getting food stamps this month and that one of every four Americans is currently eligible for food stamps.

And, typical of most "free" programs initiated in Washington, the cost of administering the food stamp bonanza has jumped clean out of sight. Eleven years ago, when the food stamp program was initiated to help the poor, it required the services of only 117 federal employees and managed to struggle along on a budget of $2 million.

Today, it takes 2,000 federal employees and a budget of $5 billion. That's nearly two-thirds of the entire budget of the Department of Agriculture.

"From a program to help the involuntary poor," a colleague recently pointed out, "food stamps have evolved into a system of feeding the voluntary poor, those who don't want to work too hard or too long and those who don't want to work at all."

As a result, the Joint Economic Committee of the Congress has determined that, by the end of Fiscal Year 1976, the number of Americans on food stamps may jump from the current 17 million to 30 million, one quarter of the total U.S. population.

That won't be the case, however, if the 1975 Food Stamp Reform Act is enacted. If approved, reforms will:

Place realistic limits so that persons with high incomes will not qualify and thereby drain resources from a program that is to meet the needs of the legitimately needy.

Close numerous loopholes that permit the voluntarily unemployed to receive food stamps and others to manipulate the system.

Tighten work requirements so that the food stamp program does not subsidize idleness or serve as a substitute for gainful employment.

Improve cash and coupon handling methods to minimize opportunities for theft, loss, and misuse of federal coupons and funds.

There are many other areas of reform included in the recommendations, but the basic aim of the bill is to rid the food stamp program of voluntary free-loaders and increase the chance that the people who really need the stamps actually get what they need.

What was the role of women during the Revolutionary War? Colonel Nellie H. Hill, who serves as Chief of Army Nurse Corps Career Activities Office, has researched the historical role of women in the United States-Armed Forces. Her records reveal many women served in unpaid and unrecognized positions with the army and there were also salaried positions created under the direction of General George Washington.

In explaining the historical role of women in the war, Colonel Hill said sometimes soldier's wives took up the soldier's duties in the midst of battle. Molly Corbin is an example of one who manned cannons during a battle in 1776, continuing to fight until she was seriously wounded.

Deborah Gannett posed as a man and enlisted in the army under the name of Robert Shurtliff. She was wounded twice in battling the Tories and was given an honorable discharge after serving with her company at Fort Mifflin in action against Indians.

Army records show many women served in obscure positions with the Army, and Col. Hill said: "There were also women who had salaried positions with the Continental Army." General George Washington requested funds to employ army nurses in a ratio of one nurse to each ten patients. On July 27, 1775 the Continental Congress not only authorized medical support but added matrons to supervise. Duties included caring for the sick, food preparation and domestic duties. Women employees of the army received $2 per month. The salary was later increased on April 7, 1777 to $8 per month for nurses and $15 per month for matrons.

Other women of the Revolutionary War period who have prominent places in the history of our nation include the nation's first lady, Martha Washington. She shared her husband's hardships during the bitterly harsh winter of 1776, rendered service by organizing groups of women to mend uniforms, lessen the various burdens of soldiers of the Continental Army and added moral stability.

Betsy Ross is believed to be the one who sewed the first American flag that had stars and stripes. The flag, adopted by Congress on June 14, 1777 came into being when a committee headed by General George Washington visited Mrs. Ross, an accomplished seamstress, in her Philadelphia home. Each year, on June 14, our nation celebrates "Flag Day". Historians disagree as to whether Mrs. Ross actually designed the flag which is known as the "Betsy Ross flag".

Veterans Information

Q - The Veterans Administration provides special housing benefits for some veterans who suffer severe service-connected disabilities. What are they?

A - Eligible veterans are provided grants of not more than 50 per cent of cost of specially adapted housing ("wheelchair homes") up to a maximum of $25,000.

Q - I keep hearing about "vet reps" on campuses of major colleges around the country. Who are they, and what do they do?

A - They are, as the name implies, specially-trained Veterans Administration representatives. They assist college-going veterans by expediting educational assistance payments, and in many instances, perform "outreach," motivational counseling and other services.

Q - I worked in a medical laboratory before I was discharged from military service last month. How should I go about getting a similar job with the Veterans Administration?

A - Contact the personnel office of the nearest VA hospital for information on employment opportunities at the agency's hospitals and clinics. If you qualify for a Veterans Readjustment Act Appointment, this would eliminate much of the paper work usually associated with Civil Service appointments.

Q - How do I go about getting the $150 annual clothing allowance certain disabled veterans receive from the Veterans Administration?

A - If you wear a prosthetic or orthopedic device for a service-connected disability which tends to wear out or tear your clothing, all you need do is apply to the nearest VA office.

Q - I bought my first home with a GI loan, and am now considering purchase of a new house. Should I obtain a release from the Veterans Administration before negotiating for my new home?

A - Veterans are cautioned to obtain a "release of liability" from VA if the purchaser of a house bought with a GI loan assumes the loan. Otherwise, the seller (veteran) could be held financially liable should the purchaser default on mortgage payments.

Q - Am I eligible for GI Bill benefits from the Veterans Administration for service in the Army from 1951 to 1954?

A - Sorry, no. GI Bill eligibility for veterans discharged before February 1, 1955, has expired.

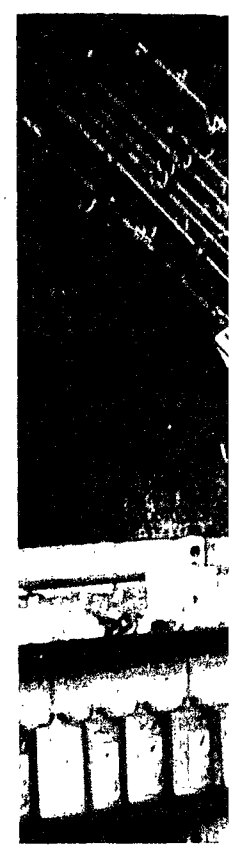

her nickname "Molly Pitcher" because she devotedly carried pitchers of water to tired, weary and overly thirsty troops during the Battle of Monmouth. Molly, then Mrs. John Hays, accompanied her husband in the service as did many soldier's wives. She took up his position in battle when her husband collapsed from a heat stroke. She died in 1832 at the age of 78.

Penelope Barker's activities are not to be overlooked. Heading a group of 51, these women openly declared their involvement and signed a document protesting England's tax on tea. The men of Boston disguised themselves as Indians before their protest against taxation. The Boston Tea Party demonstration developed a year after Penelope Barker's group drew up their resolution. No doubt, many of the women who aroused all this concern were not aware of their role in making history.

Colonel Ludington's sixteen year old daughter, Sybil, is another example of women's courage during the Revolutionary war. She volunteered to ride alone some 40 miles on the night of April 26, 1776 to muster her father's regiment. British forces had landed from Long Island Sound and were ravaging the town of Danbury in Connecticut. A bronze statue erected on the shore of Lake Glendon in Carmel, New York commemorates this teenage heroine of the American Revolution.

The splendid writings of Abigail Adams have provided Americans with documentary history of Revolutionary War years. Council calls for farmland reappraisal

The Mississippi Economic Council and the State Chamber of Commerce recommended last week that farmland in the state be professionally reappraised to more accurately reflect the fair market value of the land.

A spokesman for the council suggested that millage rates could be lowered throughout the state as a result of such a reappraisal.

All rural lands outside of municipalities in the state, both cultivatable and uncultivable, are assessed at a total value of about $407 million, he said. Meanwhile, the state's autos' assessed values are much higher, $450 million.

"When it's discovered there are only about 1,300,000 vehicles in the state while there are 27 to 28 million acres included in our summary of rural lands, it is staggering," the MEC spokesman said.

"The land is assessed at only a fraction of its market value. But if a 20 percent average is taken and applied to the figures, then the real market value for an average acre of country land in Mississippi should be worth about $75 on the market. There is no land in Mississippi which can be purchased that cheaply," he concluded.

Navy move to Hancock County delayed for further study

A decision on the proposed move of the Navy Oceanographic Office from Suitland, Maryland to NSTL in Hancock County has been delayed for an unspecified period of anywhere from a month to a year said Waldo Dearing, manager of NSTL Tuesday.

Dearing said he had had no official communication about the delay but understood that it was due to a study being conducted by the General Accounting Office on the cost of the move.

"This report that they are working on right now is entirely separate to the previous reports made about the impact of the move," Dearing said. "The preliminary report is due at the end of the month, but it may be a while longer before we hear anything definite.

Hancock Chamber of Commerce manager Max Berns said the GAO representatives had come to his office seeking information about the living conditions in the surrounding communities including the cost and availability of real estate, the type and availability of skilled workers and general living expenses.

Many of the 1300 employees of the Navy office who would be affected by the move have opposed the proposal. The Department of Defense, who must ultimately make the decision on the move, apparently delayed the decision pending the GAO study which was requested by a group of Congressmen led by Representative Marjorie Holt of Maryland.

An article in the Washington Post Monday implied that the move could be delayed for as long as a year because of a promise made by the Navy not to make the move during the school year. The Navy is required to give 60 days notice of the move.

The article also implied that GAO cost figures would probably differ from figures in the Navy report.

Carver predicts budget overrun; releases cash on hand figures

BAY ST. LOUIS -- Mayor Warren Carver released figures Tuesday showing cash on hand in the city's 20 fund accounts as of May 31 amounted to $732,846.72 and reiterated his earlier projections that the city would show a budget overrun of $34,000 at the end of the current fiscal year.

Carver said the projected budget overrun was based on actual expenditures that the city had. In contrast, Carver said receipts received would not likely be over $2,000 expected.

"However," the mayor said, "funds change from day to day and taxes aren't all in."

Bay St. Louis Finance Commissioner Clarence Ladner said he did not share the mayor's bleak forecast and predicted the city would be in the black in September at the end of the fiscal year.

"We're in the black right now," Ladner said, citing the fact that June is one of the tax offices "better months" for tax collections.

"We've only got July, August and September left to run 'on this fiscal year," Ladner said. "We know that there are parts of the mayor's department that is overrunning its budget, but there are other places, for example my office, which is currently underrunning its budget."

The city's deadline for tax payments to stop delinquent interest was last Feb. 1. The city cuts off its tax year the third Monday in September. Taxes collected after that date become prior year tax collections.

Monies remaining in the 20 fund accounts as of May 31 include: for general operating expenses, $801.05; Bond and Interest Funds other than utilities and schools, $66,460.93; Loans and Bond and Interest Funds for school purposes, $31,036.31; Bonds and Interest, $99,411.05; State loan funds, $281,106.19; other special purpose funds, $150,922.74.

Long Beach police arrest Gulfport youth two ounces of marijuana and paraphernalia in his possession.

Warden was booked at Harrison County Jail and a bond of $2,500 was set. Arresting officers were Joey Brown and Eddie McCann.

A passenger on the motorcycle Larry Dean Todd was found to be a deserter from the United States Marine Corps and was held for military disposition, police said.

Municipal school board introduces 1975-76 school budget

The outlook for the 1975-76 school year in Bay St. Louis is "real good," said superintendent of the municipal school district J.D. McCulloch at a special budget meeting of the school board Monday night.

McCulloch introduced a total preliminary budget of $1,457,043 to the school board members Monday. The board will consider the budget for approval at a special meeting July 1 and if approved will bring it to the two city governments July 8.

"It looks as if we are in real good shape right now," McCulloch said. "We have enough to pay off this year, and as far as I can tell we will end in the black and begin in the black."

All of the figures for the 1974-75 year will not be available until the final audit is completed in July, McCulloch said. He said, however, that he expected to find a balance in the budget when the audit is complete. The cities, he said, owe the school budget a balance of $36,632.41 in ad valorem and homestead exemption for the past year.

School board attorney Sam Favre said he did not expect any trouble, in gaining the approval of the two cities this year because the board was not asking for an increase in assessment.

"I don't think you will have any trouble at all this year," Favre said, "because you are basing your budget on the same assessment of $24,555,117 as last year. The only reason the budget ever had trouble passing before is because it involved raising taxes. This year we are not asking for that."

McCulloch said that there would even be a reduction this year in the ad valorem taxes of $72,000. This year's estimated figure is $449,378 as opposed to a figure of $523,806 last year. The superintendent said that the decrease is mainly due to an increase in funds from the state.

One example pointed out by McCulloch of an increase in state funding is in the state non-assistant food program which enables the local board to cut its estimated cost from $12,000 to $6,000.

McCulloch emphasized that the figures introduced at Monday's meeting were only preliminary figures and could change before the budget was finally approved. One item which he said may need to be evaluated is the insurance rates for the schools. He pointed out that some of the schools were not presently insured for their total replacement value and said that if a re-evaluation resulted in higher premiums, the cost to the district would be increased.

It was also pointed out that some of the income figures might also change. One board member said the amount received from the state under the Impact Law may increase if the proposed move of the Navy Oceanographic Office to NSTL is finalized and it is seen that the local schools will increase in enrollment as a result.

PEP chairman proclaims economic advance

The new positive consumer attitude being discovered by coast business people can be credited to the work of the 40-member Programs for Economic Progress (PEP) committee, said chairman Roland Weeks.

Weeks listed as some positive economic changes on the coast the sale of more than a million dollars worth of homes during the first three weeks of June, an increase in tourism, an increase in retail sales and a gain in sales tax collection.

Weeks said that the PEP committee got started when he discovered that the jobless rates in coastal counties, 6.2 percent in Harrison County, 4.3 percent in Jackson County and 8.1 percent in Hancock County were all below the state and national averages. Spendable income per family was also better than the state averages, the chairman said.

During the month of June, which was designated by Governor Waller as PEP month, members of the committee attempted to spread the positive consumer attitude by distributing bumper stickers, lapel buttons, balloons and decals proclaiming the slogan, "Things Are Brighter on the Mississippi Coast."

Activities during PEP month included a better living showcase displaying completely furnished homes including automobiles in the carports, lawn mowers in the yards and other merchandise on display. PEP month also included salutes to industry, tourism, seafood and government and education.

Wrapping up PEP month will be a banquet at the Broadwater Beach Hotel in Biloxi July 9 featuring Secretary of the Treasury William Simon as guest speaker.

"We said things were brighter on the Mississippi Coast," said chairman Weeks. "What has been happening this month proves conclusively that they really are and that there is no reason to lose confidence in an economic system that has been working pretty well in this country for two hundred years."

Co-chairing the PEP committee activities with Weeks are Perry Gibson of Hancock County and Jolly McCarty of Jackson County.

Mississippi College receives designation

CLINTON - Mississippi College will become the state's first officially designated Bicentennial college at 10:30 a.m. July 3, during a special ceremony in Aven Auditorium on the campus.

A special flag will be presented to the school by the State Bicentennial Committee. Congressman Thad Cochran will be on hand for the event.

To qualify as an official Bicentennial college or university, a school must be participating in activities that represent each of the three Bicentennial themes, Heritage '76, Festival U.S.A., and Horizons '76. Mississippi College has programs planned in all three areas.

During the 1975-76 session the college will also celebrate its 150th birthday and 125 years of Baptist leadership. A special Triple Anniversary Planning Committee, under the leadership of Graduate Dean Edward McMillan, has been working for the past eight months on plans for the celebration.

Coast guard sets schedule

The Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 35 will operate regular patrols during the boating season each Saturday and Sunday in the area of the Pass Christian Harbor south.

Courtesy boat examinations are also being made at most harbors on the coast by the Auxiliary Saturdays and Sundays in anticipation of Safe Boating Week.

Stennis calls for review of grain export scandals

WASHINGTON, D. C. - Senator John C. Stennis requested last week a complete investigation of grain export irregularities which he said are hurting the United States' trade reputation.

"Charges of corruption in export grain sales bear directly upon the international reputation of our Nation," the Mississippi Senator said. "It is essential that other nations have no doubts that when they trade for American grain they will get fair value in terms of quantity, grade and cleanliness."

Calling for revision of current grain inspection requirements, Stennis said, "If there are conflicts of interest built into the system, then they must be eliminated. If it is both legal and profitable for a shipper to add unusable fillers to an otherwise high grade shipment of grain to bring it down until it just meets the minimum grade requirement, then something is wrong. If the fine for misgrading a shipment is less than the profit that can be made by so doing, then the system is at fault."

Stennis said the current scandal is more than just a grain problem. He said it affects all of agriculture and the country's reliability in international trade.

"It is absolutely essential that the United States sets its house in order in this matter, and do so fully and openly so that the process can be observed by the international community with whom we trade," he said.

Stennis pointed out that while the subject is beginning to receive national and international attention there have been complaints as far back as 1969 which cited deficiencies in grading, in cleanliness, and in quantity - and the possibility of bribery as a cause of some of these deficiencies.

"The honest, hard-working people who are in this business need to have their reputations protected from being tarnished by the misdeeds of a few," Stennis said. "If there are those who profit by criminal actions, they must be found and brought to justice."

Waller says Mississippi first to begin summer youth program

Governor Bill Waller has announced that his office will administer programs providing over 12,000 summer youth jobs under provisions of legislation recently signed by the President.

Waller said that the Governor's Office of Education and Training will coordinate the summer youth work program which will receive funds totaling $6,739,011 from the Manpower Administration from U. S. Department of Labor.

He said that he had been informed that Mississippi is the first state to develop a plan for implementation of the program, and that his staff is ready to start as soon as the funds become available.

Those interested in the program should contact their local employment service offices Waller said.

Boat notices to be sent this week

The Mississippi Boat and Water Safety Commission has urged boat owners who have not yet received their renewal notices not to become alarmed.

The Commission said that notices are going out slower due to the late enactment of HB 63 which authorized the mail renewal system.

A Commission spokesman said that the renewal notices would be mailed this week.

Task force to reduce cost

Governor Waller has appointed a special task force to develop methods of reducing the cost of operating state-owned motor vehicles.

"With the cost of gasoline and other factors contributing to the expense of operating motor vehicles increasing dramatically, it is urgent that we take action now to save the taxpayers as much money as possible," Waller said.

Waller said Tom Sanders, Special Projects Officer for the Mississippi Research and Development Center, will head the task force which is composed of representatives from the Commission of Budget and Accounting, Game and Fish Commission, Department of Agriculture, Highway Patrol, Governor's Office, Department of Education, Highway Department and Forestry Commission.

He said that the group is studying methods to obtain lower-priced gasoline and is seeking a system of maintenance of state vehicles for maximum efficiency in operation.

elections. Voter registration deadline is July 3.

"If our active, concerned citizens will each spend one full hour during the next week urging other people to register, we can dramatically increase participation in our government," Waller said.

Waller said that public apathy is the major source of concern when looking at problems of both state and national government.

"In Mississippi, we can continue our progress only if we can get full citizen involvement," he said.

Governor urges foreign trade

Governor Waller said last week that Federal officials were "most receptive" to proposals he has made to increase the nation's role in foreign trade.

Waller conducted a full day of meetings with Congressmen, State and Commerce Department officials, the Import-Export Bank and officials of a multinational corporation doing extensive business in the Middle East and Africa.

The governor recently gained approval by the National Governors' Conference of a resolution calling for a more aggressive foreign trade policy.

He met last Friday with Senators Russell Long of Louisiana and Daniel Inouye of Hawaii. In addition, Waller presented copies of the resolution to Tilton Dobbin, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, and Roger Davis, Under-Secretary of State.

"The officials were very happy to receive the support from the Governors' Conference and were very receptive to Governor Waller's ideas concerning the exchange of American goods for the billions of petrodollars that are being accumulated by the countries of the Middle East," said Waller.

Easter Seal Society plans National Week

The National Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults and the National Paraplegia Foundation are co-sponsoring a National Awareness Week June 30 to July 6 to focus on the problems of more than 24 million Americans with limited mobility.

Former baseball great Roy Campanella, whose career came to an end when he was partially paralyzed in an automobile accident in 1958, is chairman of the nationwide program.

"We will focus on solutions, rather than problems. National Awareness Week is geared to involving and acquainting the public with resources available to eliminate barriers faced by millions of Americans," Campanella said.

Activities now being planned in communities in all 50 states, will emphasize the theme "Independence through Awareness" and the work that needs to be done to make all aspects of the man-made environment, including housing and transportation, accessible to the physically handicapped and elderly.

Participating Easter Seal County Chapters throughout Mississippi will spearhead the week-long activities.

Easter Seal County Chapters in Mississippi plan to highlight the progress that has been made in breaking barriers, present approaches for strengthening and implementing legislation, and recognize businesses, agencies and individuals who have worked to eliminate barriers.

Further details on National Awareness Week are available from: The Mississippi Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults, 733 N. State St., P.O. Box 2776, Jackson, Miss. 39207.

Pass fire department attends course

The Pass Christian Fire Department has just completed a three day training course conducted with the cooperation of the Vocational and Technical Division of the State Department of Education.

The sessions included fire hose care, testing, rolls, connections and records. The sessions also included emergency driving of fire apparatus to and from emergency responses and procedures for handling hazardous materials in transportation such as flammable liquid spills, poison gas leaks and explosives.

Chief George M. Nixon of the Pass Christian Fire Department said 16 men from the department attended the course.

Instructor for the course was William C. Warren, firemanship training instructor in the Vocational Division. The division offers these and other fire training courses to all fire departments within the state.

Veterans interested in becoming home-owners should consider the advantages of a GI loan, said spokesman of the Veterans Administration.

The agency has approved nearly nine million loans valued at $11.3 billion since World War II, and more than half the loans have already been repaid in full, he said.

"As buying a home generally is the largest and most important expenditure family ever makes, it should be taken to insure value received for money paid," officials stressed.

A veteran who buys a home with VA assistance usually finds the loan easier to obtain because the agency guarantees part of the loan. No downpayment is necessary unless required by the lender or the purchase price exceeds the reasonable value determined by VA, the spokesman said.

One advantage listed by the VA is that loan may be repaid over a long period of time.

Veterans urged to apply for home loans

Veterans interested in becoming home-owners should consider the advantages of a GI loan, said a spokesman of the Veterans Administration.

A veteran who buys a home with VA assistance usually finds the loan easier to obtain because the agency guarantees part of the loan. No downpayment is necessary unless required by the lender, or the purchase price exceeds the reasonable value as determined by VA, the VA spokesman said.

One advantage listed by the VA is that loan may be repaid over a long period of time at a moderate interest rate, with the option of paying off all or part of the loan in advance without penalty. VA appraises the home to determine its reasonable value in the market prevailing at time appraisal was made.

The agency said it also makes available an inspection service, in most cases, on proposed new homes to insure that they meet accepted standards of good construction, and conforms to plans and specifications on which the agency's appraisal was based. When there are justifiable complaints, the agency tries to assist in getting the builder to correct defects.

The VA advised veterans who want GI loans to first select a home, then take a certificate of eligibility issued by the agency to a private lender, and apply for a loan. The agency guarantees 60 percent, up to a maximum $17,500, of loans lenders make to eligible veterans.

Ole Miss studies effect of stress on potatoes

UNIVERSITY, Miss., - The University of Mississippi School of Pharmacy is currently studying potatoes to determine if certain chemicals contained in them are harmful to humans.

Almost eight tons of potatoes have been stressed and processed in the Pharmacy School's pharmacognosy laboratories to determine if any Solanum tuberosum (the Irish potato) contains chemicals potentially harmful to humans. The research is supported by the Food and Drug Administration and directed by Dr. Norman Doorenbos, chairman of pharmacognosy.

"Potatoes are among the most wholesome and nutritious food available anywhere in the world; but stressed potatoes, those which have been cut, bruised, frost-bitten or infected with bacteria, viruses or fungi, may not always be wholesome," Dr. Doorenbos said.

He explained that potatoes respond to such "stress" by manufacturing phytoalexins, some of which are antibiotics which help protect the vegetable against invading bacteria, fungi, and viruses.

National wildlife group proposes tax on non-game users

A proposal to tax non-hunting and non-fishing users of public wildlife lands is currently being studied by two federal agencies the National Wildlife Federation reported last week. The proposal, included in a report by the Wildlife Management Institute to the Council on Environmental Quality and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, recommends funding of non-game, fish and wildlife habitat programs with federal manufacturer's excise taxes on recreational vehicles, tents, sleeping bags, lanterns, snow skis, wild bird seed, scuba diving equipment, binoculars, cameras, film and other photographic equipment.

At present revenue for wildlife habitats come from federal grants plus about $240 million per year from state hunting and fishing licenses.

"There has been a marked trend in recent years toward greater use of state and federal recreational lands by birdwatchers, photographers, skiers, campers and other nonconsumptive users," the report says. "State fish and wildlife agencies are conducting non-game programs almost entirely with funds obtained from hunters and fishermen. All members of society are the beneficiaries of non-game programs. Hence, a broader cross-section of society must share in the costs."

MEC meeting studies constitutional revision

The Mississippi Economic Council's study on constitutional revision was the topic of a meeting of 23 state business leaders in Jackson Wednesday.

The Constitution Revision Committee, headed by attorney Joshua Green of Jackson, discussed methods of informing the public of the need for constitutional changes in Mississippi. The group is a special committee of the MEC's Governmental Affairs Committee, chaired by Charles Sewell of Jackson.

"It is vital that the Mississippi Constitution - to continue to receive acceptance by the people as the fundamental written authority for their own self-government - be general in nature, brief in form, and modern in its terms," the MEC study on constitutional revision says.

The report calls for changes in all levels of the government. Reorganization and strengthening of the executive branch is recommended along with major changes in the state's judicial system. The Legislature would be given more freedom of operation, the report says, if cumbersome parliamentary rules in the 1890 Constitution were abolished.

The 84-page publication reviews the history and provisions of each of Mississippi's four Constitutions.

Corps may require environmental study

By DAVID PIERSON
Colonel Drake Wilson, district engineer for the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, said late last week he was leaving open the possibility that the Corps might require an environmental impact study before granting the DuPont Company a final permit it needs for the proposed pigments plant north of the Bay of St. Louis in DeLisle.

Wilson said after the Corps' public hearing at the Westside Community Center in Gulfport that he would wait until the record is closed July 2 before determining whether further study is needed on the proposed plant.

Save the Bay, Inc., a group of landowners who are opposed to DuPont's plans to locate north of the Bay, contended at the hearing that there has not been enough study done on the plant's effects on the Bay.

George Riess, president of the environmental group, asked that a thorough environmental impact study be commissioned which could report its findings in three to six months.

Two mill levy ordered

Supervisors Oscar Peterson and Jerry Ladner disagreed Tuesday with fellow board members that the two mill levy should be voted in accordance with the commission's ruling.

"What Geoghegan says doesn't make any difference to me," said Peterson. "I won't vote for any repayment plan until we can clear up exactly where all of this money has been spent."

Ladner said he, too, could not support any levy until all of the loan money had been accounted for.

"I think that Geoghegan and the members of the former board of supervisors who spent the money should come down and show us where the money was spent," Ladner said.

"In my opinion Geoghegan is just as liable for this money as the board of supervisors because it is his job to okay all of the money that was spent. And I don't think that he has the authority to put a tax on the people. That will be up to the state legislature when they come back in session."

On the issue of $180,000 allocated to the school board out of the Governor's Emergency Council funds which school board have refused to return, Geoghegan stated the commission did not think the money could legally be spent at this time. The school board contends the money is earmarked for construction of a new cafeteria and classrooms at Hancock North Central and dressing rooms at Gulfview School.

"On the face it is obviously not legal," Geoghegan said. "Superintendent McCarty had told me earlier that the Hancock Board of Supervisors had authorized the school board to spend the money on "It wouldn't delay their site construction," said Riess. "They're waiting for an economic upturn before beginning construction anyhow."

Colonel Wilson said that the Corps' primary concern "is whether we give them a permit to build an outfall line," but he added that the Corps may look into questions of water quality and waste disposal methods.

Throughout his presentation, Riess reiterated that he was not opposed to DuPont locating in south Mississippi. "We are not opposed to DuPont locating in our area if they do so in a proper manner, but at the same time the quality of human life should not be degraded. If they plan to locate in this area, they should do so in one of the industrial parks."

DuPont officials have maintained that locating in an industrial park is not suitable for them because it would be too small an area.

Representatives of the cities of Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian, Long Beach, Gulfport, and Biloxi all endorsed DuPont's plans to locate in this area, and all said that enough study had been done on the plant's effect on the environment.

The Pass Christian and Long Beach chambers of commerce also expressed support for the permit approval, and the Harrison County Development Commission also endorsed DuPont for its "furthering of industrial employment in the area."

Bertha Giani, a DeLisle resident, also stressed the need for jobs in the area. "We need our youth in Pass Christian. We need progress, roads, and I think DuPont is for that."

Betty LaFontaine, also a resident of DeLisle, supported DuPont at the hearing. "I have all the confidence in the world," she said. "DuPont will not come in here and hurt this area. We can't blame them for our problems, the seafood industry has dropped the last four years, and DuPont isn't even here yet."

Basil Kennedy of Bay St. Louis enumerated his several objections to the plans to locate the plant north of the Bay. Among his objections was the possibility of large amounts of zinc and mercury in the effluent. He ended by saying, "The Bay of St. Louis is a swimming pool, I don't want to see anything added to make it a cesspool."

In the question-and-answer session that followed, Waldemar Nelson, the consulting engineer for DuPont, said that the 22 1/2-23 1/2 foot height of the waste reservoir should be safe from hurricanes. Nelson said that the water level at the plant site during Hurricane Camille was 17 1/2 feet, and therefore, there was no danger of a runoff.

Nelson has himself been a subject of controversy in recent weeks following an Echo article (March 13, 1974) which disclosed that Waldemar S. Nelson, Inc. received $285,745.32 for its share of land sold to DuPont at the proposed plant site. Riess has contended that the land interests "taint" his credibility as an expert.

Nelson and DuPont officials have maintained that the land ownership was a matter of public record and that the land holdings are irrelevant.

Technical experts for DuPont also fielded numerous questions on other aspects of the DuPont plant. Among those were questions dealing with the temperature of the mixing zone in the Bay and the possible buildup of zinc deposits.

David B. Seebry, attorney for the DuPont Company, in answer to a question, said that DuPont chose not to locate in Georgia because that state's water pollution control director turned down a request by DuPont to drill an exploratory well and suggested rather that DuPont barge its wastes to the ocean. The Corps' record will remain open through July 2 at which time Colonel Wilson will determine if an environmental impact study will be required. Those interested in submitting written testimony can address it to The Hearing Officer, P. O. Box 2288, Mobile, Alabama. In other developments, Save the Bay's attempt to temporarily stop the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission (MAWPPC) permit was overruled by Harrison County Chancery Court Judge Frank Alexander last week.

Judge Alexander has given attorneys 45 days to file final briefs before he begins deliberation on Save the Bay's main contention that MAWPPC prejudged the DuPont permit in favor of the Chemicals corporation. The chancellor also turned down last week a motion by Save the Bay that would have opened the doors for an evidentiary hearing with new evidence being admissible.

Miss Debra Ann Langenbacker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Langenbacker, Jr., Waveland, Miss., and John Stephen Scianna, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scianna Sr., Bay St. Louis, were married Saturday afternoon, June 21, at a Nuptial Mass in Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Rev. Michael Tracey, associate pastor, performed the double ring ceremony.

Vases of yellow and white daisies and baby's breath decorated the altar.

Mrs. John McKenna, organist, played the traditional wedding marches.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length empire style gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta. The bodice and jewel neckline were embroidered in sequins and seed pearls. Her cathedral length veil of illusion, edged with Chantilly lace, fell from a lace caplet re-embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses, yellow and white daisies and baby's breath.

Miss Peggy Lynn Smith, Bay St. Louis, attended the bride as maid of honor and Mrs. Cecil Johnston, godmother of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Bilbo, Bay St. Louis, cousin of the bride, and Miss Sherry Stewart, Greenville, Miss. Miss Mary Langenbacker, sister of the bride, and Miss Linda Scianna, sister of the groom, were junior bridesmaids.

The attendants wore yellow crepe floor length dresses featuring sweetheart necklines, puff sleeves and A-line skirts edged with a wide ruffle. They wore wide brimmed white lace hats trimmed with yellow ribbon bands and streamers adorned with white daisy appliques and carried white baskets of baby's breath and white and yellow daisies interspersed with white and yellow ribbon streamers.

Charles Scianna Jr., Bay St. Louis, attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Frank J. Langenbacker, brother of the bride, Waveland, Jeffrey J. Favre, Deer Park, Texas, uncle of the groom, and Royce Malley, Bay St. Louis. Joe Langenbacker, brother of the bride and Kenneth, Peter and Paul Scianna, brothers of the groom, served as ushers.

A reception was held at the American Legion Home, Waveland, where Mrs. Langenbacker received guests wearing a blue floor length gown of chiffon and lace. The mother of the groom wore a long pink floral chiffon dress. Both mothers wore white cymbidium orchid corsages.

The bride's table, overlaid with a white hand-made lace cloth, was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake trimmed with yellow spun sugar roses and miniature tulle and rhinestone butterflies, topped with roses and a gold cross. Candelabra holding white tapers entwined with yellow and white daisies and baby's breath were on either side.

MISS STEPHEN WINNARD

In the state Miss Hospitality Contest at the Buena Vista Hotel in Biloxi July 23. Miss Winnard, a 19-year-old student at Mississippi University for Women, is studying economics and political science leading to a degree in corporate law. She is a graduate of Bay Senior High.

The contestant lists music as her main interest. She has played piano for 14 years and won competitions on the local and state level. She was also the principal clarinetist in the Bay Senior High Band and attended solo and ensemble clinics and festivals for the school. She was accompanist for the Junior and Senior High choruses and is teaching piano for the first time this summer. Miss Winnard is a former Bay St. Louis Junior Miss and was named fourth alternate in the state Junior Miss Pageant where she also received the scholastic achievement and creative and performing arts awards. She has also been a finalist in the Miss W Pageant at Mississippi University for Women and is a princess in the 1975 Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo. At Mississippi University for Women, Miss Winnard is

Simon comedy provides summertime fare

By GERTRUDE STANTON
Come Blow Your Horn at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre was a duet of accord between audience and actors. The performers Saturday night had to wait for laughs as the capacity crowd enjoyed Neil Simon's brisk lines and the spirited acting.

Mark Horne played Alan Baker in a relaxed, easy manner but with underlying intensity, especially in the third act.

Tom Landon's Buddy Baker was a lively foil for Horne and Edward Craig as the father projected a pointed but believable caricature. Galsworthy made the type famous with James Forsyte in The Forsyte Saga, and Mr. Simon has expertly transferred it to the New York milieu.

Marjorie Seabury as Mrs. Baker sketched a type also. Her skillful picture of the overwhelmed mother, while done in broad strokes, was never overdone. Timing of the exchanges between Mrs. Seabury and Craig are reminiscent of play and return between very good tennis players.

The girl upstairs, Anne

Bennett Ladner, on the Bay St. Louis stage for the first time in the role of Peggy Evans, was delightful. Diane Sones, also appearing for the first time, played Connie Dayton, the girl Alan Baker marries. The set decoration by Becky Markel and Becky Prevou was uncluttered and effective in its use of black and white. Olive McKenna the director and Alice Holmes the producer presented exactly the right light-hearted summertime fare for a highly appreciative audience.

Nurses offer masters prog

Nurses can now complete requirements for a master's degree in nursing in summers at the University Medical Center in Jackson. Taking only nursing courses during summer months at University of Mississippi Medical Center, they transfer non-nursing credits from accredited college, an administration spokesman said. Forty nurses from schools are currently enrolled in the program.

Completion of coursework for a master of nursing at the normal UMC school usually takes one full calendar year.

"We've cut the time in half but not the work," says Faustena Blaisdell, head of the nursing graduate school. The special program answers a Board of Trust Institutions of Higher Learning directive that teachers in the state's two four-year nursing schools have master's degrees by 1980.

"They don't have to their jobs to get advanced training, and the schools have to do without teachers," Dr. Blaisdell said.

Nurses offered summer masters program

Nurses can now complete requirements for a master's degree in nursing in two summers at the University Medical Center in Jackson.

Taking only nursing courses during summer months at the University of Mississippi Medical Center, they transfer non-nursing credits from any accredited college, an administration spokesman said.

Forty nurses from ten schools are currently enrolled in the program.

Completion of coursework for a master of nursing during the normal UMC school term usually takes one full calendar year.

"We've cut the time in half, but not the work," says Dr. Faustena Blaisdell, head of the nursing graduate school.

The special program answers a Board of Trustees, Institutions of Higher Learning directive that all teachers in the state's two and four-year nursing schools have master's degrees by 1980.

"They don't have to quit their jobs to get advanced training, and the schools don't have to do without teachers," Dr. Blaisdell said.

Meeting for 12 weeks, the students can choose an advanced degree in medical-surgical or maternal-infant nursing.

A master's program in psychiatric nursing, already offered during the regular school term, will be added to the accelerated summer schedule next year.

The fifteen non-nursing credits can be taken any time prior to the second summer session. Dr. Blaisdell said most students take the courses at night, at a college near their home.

Nursing instructors from Mississippi Valley State University, University of Southern Mississippi, Mississippi University for Women, and UMC are enrolled in the first session. In addition, Mississippi Delta Junior College, Hinds Junior College, Jones County Junior College, and Pearl River Junior College have faculty members in the program. Two Louisiana schools, Northeast Louisiana University and Southeastern Louisiana University, are represented by teachers seeking the master of nursing at UMC.

Pass Christian historical society features bicentennial speaker

The Pass Christian Historical Society featured guest speaker W. Dayton Robinson, vice-chairman of the Pass Christian Bicentennial Commission at its meeting Monday night at Gulf National Bank.

Robinson pointed out Pass Christian's status on the Mississippi coast as the place where the United States flag was first raised to proclaim the coastal area as part of the country.

The bicentennial chairman said the January 9, 1811 event will be re-enacted January 9, 1976 as part of the Pass

Christian bicentennial celebration.

The historical society voted Monday to supply the local public library and the local schools with bound copies of Dr. J. J. Hayden's "History of Pass Christian."

Dr. C. D. Taylor, a member of the group, suggested that the society begin a project of tape recording interviews with elderly residents about the history of the city.

Present officers of the historical society are president, Mrs. John B. Pritchard; vice-president, Miss Jane Northrop; secretary, Mrs. Philip Ambler; treasurer, Mrs. Jackson Balch; and membership chairman, Miss Maud Frye.

A nomination committee composed of Miss Julia Frye, Mrs. Louis Levy and Mrs. Asahel W. Cooper, Jr. were appointed to present a slate of officers at the next meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, September 8 at the Gulf National Bank in Pass Christian. Membership dues are $3 per person.

Mississippi humorist contributes to USM oral history library

Mississippi's nationally known country humorist Jerry Clower will present June 26 for the dedication of the oral history program at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Clower, known for his comedy albums about his boyhood adventures in Amite County, will receive a printed and bound transcription of the memoirs that he recorded for the USM oral history program.

Dr. Orley B. Caudill, director of the USM program, explained that Clower's memoirs are an oral recollection of his life and experiences up to the time when the recording was made two years ago.

The written and spoken volumes of Clower's recollections will be placed in the Mississippi Room in the USM library for use by scholars and researchers.

The oral history program, begun in 1971, is an approach to history that uses modern technology to record, transcribe, preserve, and make available the history of Mississippi in the voices of people who were involved as participants or observers, Caudill said.

"The philosophy of the program," he said, "is to record as completely as possible all important aspects of any historically valuable event or topic without bias." Mississippians with opposing ideas who have been interviewed include segregationists Judge Tom P. Brady of the State Supreme Court, and civil rights activists Aaron Henry and Fanny Lou Hamer.

Caudill said that 340 interviews have been recorded, totaling some 1000 hours on tape. A few of the more well-known political leaders interviewed are Gov. William Waller, former governor Ross Barnett, retired congressman William Colmer, Jackson mayor Russell Davis, and Fayette mayor Charles Evers.

Other prominent persons on tape are writers Erskine Caldwell and Willie Morris; astronaut Fred Haise; broadcaster Red Barber, former voice of the Brooklyn Dodgers; journalist Turner Catledge, former editor of the New York Times; and former prisoner of war Maj. Tom Collins, held in North Vietnam for over seven years.

Caudill said that some of the recordings contain confidential material that will not be released until the lapse of a certain number of years specified by the person interviewed.

The activities of the newly dedicated oral history program will continue July 7-12, when a workshop in oral history will be held at USM, with Dr. Forrest C. Pogue, the biographer of Gen. George C. Marshall, as one of the guest faculty participants.

Sellout expected for Ole Miss-Tulane gridiron confrontation in Superdome

UNIVERSITY, Miss. — With 1975 Ole Miss football tickets moving at a rapid rate, athletic ticket manager Danny Hooker said last week that several contests could possible reach sell-out status in the near future.

The Rebel home slate includes campus games with Southern Mississippi on Sept. 27, Georgia on Oct. 11 and Vanderbilt on Oct. 25, Jackson-based meetings with South Carolina on Oct. 18, L. S. U. on Nov. 1 and Mississippi State on Nov. 22 and a Nov. 15 encounter with Tennessee in Memphis.

"Sales for our home games continue to grow daily at a rapid rate," Hooker emphasized. "And with several games possible sellouts soon, fans planning to order tickets to Ole Miss games should do so promptly."

Hooker revealed that the Rebel allotment to the Sept. 20 game with Tulane in the Louisiana Superdome was nearly exhausted and that that game could become a sellout in the foreseeable future.

Hooker also stated that June 20 is the deadline for all non-dues paying alumni and all non dues paying 'M' Club alumni to exercise group priority status in purchasing tickets for the '75 campaign.

All orders received after June 30 will be classified as general public orders.

Also a limit of four tickets per game will be placed on all non-season ticket orders until

USM opens new natatorium

HATTIESBURG, Miss. — The new $375,000 natatorium at the University of Southern Mississippi has been named for M. C. (Tuffy) Johnson, who organized the Mississippi Swimming and Diving Association and also originated the first full academic department in the nation for athletic administrators and coaches, announced Dr. William D. McCain, USM president.

Housing an Olympic-sized swimming pool with automatic chlorinators and chemical feeders, one and three meter diving boards, the new swimming facility has modern offices, dressing rooms, patio, classrooms in the basement and features underwater sound in the pool.

The natatorium is used to capacity until 9 p.m. daily for University instruction, recreation and competition and for community services.

A member of the USM faculty for almost 30 years, Coach Johnson is currently chairman of the Department of Athletic Administration and Coaching he organized. Coach Johnson has served as referee and starter in most of the existing track and swimming meets in Mississippi and helped to inaugurate swimming pool clinics, youth safety conferences, firearms safety and scuba diving clinics.

Jenkins' single ends Russian Roulette, 9-8

By DAVID PIERSON
Echo Sports Editor

Russian Roulette can only work five times in a row. After overcoming deficits in its first five encounters (and trailing in two of the contests by as much as seven and ten runs), the Bay St. Louis-Diamondhead baseball team learned Sunday night that the sixth chamber was loaded. But even so, the Diamondhead team postponed the inevitable until the seventh inning of the sixth game with still another comeback effort.

It was Perry Jenkins of the Pass Christian Steelers who pulled the trigger, ending it all.

With one out in the bottom of the seventh inning, Jenkins lofted a long fly ball single over the indrawn Bay St. Louis defense to drive in the winning run and hand the Bay St. Louis-Diamondhead baseball team its first loss of the Senior Babe Ruth League season, 9-8.

Jenkins' hit thwarted a Bay St. Louis comeback effort which had tied the score in the top of the inning after trailing by an 8-1 count earlier in the game.

Pass Christian served notice early in the game that there was no way for Bay St. Louis to avoid the sixth fate as the Steelers jumped out to a 6-0 lead in the second inning. Parker Pulessis keyed the second-inning rally by bouncing a bases-loaded single into left field, after Vic Swanier reached safely on an infield error, Myron Cook and Paul Stewart lined consecutive singles to right field and both men scored on fielding miscues.

Bay St. Louis got back one of the runs in the top of the third inning when Arnold Fairconnetue drew a pickoff throw at third base and scored on a wild throw to the plate.

In the bottom of the fourth inning, Pass Christian extended its lead to 8-1 when Duplessis and Swanier delivered back-to-back home runs over the left field fence.

Bill Ginn of Bay St. Louis then contributed to the home run barrage in the top of the fifth inning when he poled a three-run shot over the fence in right field.

In the sixth, Bay St. Louis cut the lead to 8-6 when Fairconnetue walked and Ricky Adams singled and both scored on errors.

In the top of the seventh, Fairconnetue tied the game with a solid single to right field, scoring Donald Corr and Jesse Schwartz.

Then in the bottom of the seventh, Diamondhead's fate came due. Paul Stewart lined a one-out single into right field, but the ball got away from the right fielder and rolled to the fence allowing Stewart to race to third base. Mark Jenkins followed with a base on balls. Then, with the defense pulled in to cut off the winning run at the plate, Perry Jenkins pulled the trigger and lofted the ball over the defense and against the fence in right-center.

The win lifted Pass Christian into second place in the league standings with a 5-2 record. Bay St. Louis remains in first place with a 5-1 slate. Myron Cook pitched all seven innings for the Steelers and was credited with the win. He fanned 11 and walked ten. Adrian Favre was the losing pitcher, going the distance with three strikeouts and four walks.

SPORT TALK

By Charlie Henderson

Q. Say, sport fans, how many of you can name the National League's Cy Young award winners from 1970 through 1974?

A. Give up? Here they are: Bob Gibson of the Cardinals in 1970; Ferguson Jenkins, Chicago Cubs, 1971; Steve Carlton, Philadelphia, 1972; Tom Seaver of the Mets in 1973; and "Iron Mike" Marshall of the Dodgers in 1974, the first relief pitcher to win the award, appearing in over a hundred games.

Q. How many NCAA basketball championships did John Wooden's UCLA teams win in a row before they finally lost? Who beat them?

A. Wooden's Bruin teams won seven NCAA championships in a row, and nine out of ten, before they were dethroned by the North Carolina State Wolfpack in the spring of 1974. Spanning the Kareem Abdul Jabbar and Bill Walton years, the Bruins also had a 88 consecutive game win streak, and that's traveling first class in any sport.

Q. Like to travel first class when you step into your car? Then come in and test drive our new Fords & A-1 Used Cars. It's a winner in every way, and we're making deals right now that will surprise you. Come in and make us prove it!

Cards-Expos playoff game set for July 2

Gulf National Bank and Merchants Bank, the two leading teams in the Bay St. Louis Little League, will play for the first round championship at 6:30 p.m. July 2. The two teams tied for the first round title with identical 7-3 records, necessitating one-game playoff.

The winner of the game earns the right to meet the second round champion in a best two-of-three playoff for the league championship in early August.

The Merchants Bank Expos, presently owning a 3-1 record in second round play, have three of the league's leading hitters in Andrew Haas, Brian Adam, and Scott Adam.

The Gulf National Bank Cards, which are presently atop the second round standings with a perfect 4-0 slate, also boast of three hitters in the top ten - Kelly Geroux, Mike Rogues, and Neal Wilkerson.

Probable pitchers for the game will be Steve Seymour for Merchants and Kelly Geroux for the Cards.

SPORTS

The Bay Player of the Week

The Bay St. Louis Babe Ruth Player of the Week is Jeff Reed of Dixie Realty who is presently leading the league in extra base hits.

Reed, an excellent backstop with a strong arm and an excellent bat, pounded out a single, a double, and a triple in four at-bats to lead the Jack Sotak-coached Dixie Realty team to a 14-11 decision over Coast Electric and a first place standing in the league.

In the crucial game between the two league powers, Reed's three hits accounted for three RBI's and the difference in the ball game.

Other players nominated for the weekly honor were Gary Sotak, Nick Haas, and Doug Summers of Dixie Realty, and Kerry Corr and Edward Naman of Rotary.

Family reunion

Wendell Ladner is flanked by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Ladner of Nacaise Crossing, at a family reunion last summer at the Ladner home. The basketball star was killed Tuesday in a plane crash near John F. Kennedy Airport in New York. Ladner, a 1966 graduate of Hancock North Central High School, set rebounding records in his collegiate basketball days at USM and went on to play five seasons in the ABA. During his abbreviated pro career, Ladner played for the Memphis Pros, New Orleans Buccaneers, Kentucky Colonels, and the New York Nets.

Dixie Realty braves weather, salts away win

By DAVID PIERSON

To paraphrase Morton's Salt: when it rains, you can't play baseball. And for the past two weeks in Bay St. Louis it has rained, especially on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays - the three days when the Junior Babe Ruth League plays its games.

As a result, regularly-scheduled games have been rained out, makeup games have been rained out, and, in one instance (Dixie Realty vs. Hancock Supply), a makeup game of a makeup game has been rained out.

Yet despite the non-baseballian weather, two Junior Babe Ruth teams showed enough determination to play, come rain or high water.

In the first of two games last Wednesday afternoon, Dixie Realty finally accomplished what it had been trying to do for over a week, play a baseball game. Dixie Realty was out in the sun long enough to outslug Coast Electric to move into undisputed possession of first place.

In the other contest last Wednesday night, Rotary was leading American Legion 14-1 when they ran into still another obstacle, the lights went out twice. The game had to be suspended.

Dixie Realty, 14-11. Surviving an 11-run first inning by Coast Electric, Dixie Realty fought back to down the Electricians 14-11, using a six-run sixth inning. Coast Electric's first ten batters to face Dixie pitching scored in the first inning as the Electricians used six walks and five hits to jump out to an 11-0 lead.

Gary Sotak held Coast Electric hitless the rest of the way as Dixie cut the lead to 11-8 in the fourth inning. Then in the sixth, the Realtors capitalized on two Coast Electric errors and tallied six times to win.

Jeff Reed, the player of the week, garnered three hits in the game with a single, a double, and a triple.

Sotak was credited with the win, and Mike Richardson was the loser.

Tuning up

These youngsters are apparently sharpening their skills for the first annual Bay St. Louis Junior Fishing Rodeo this weekend at the American Legion Pier. Deadline for registration is 4 p.m. Friday with competition divided into two divisions (6-10 years-old and 11-15 years-old). Scales will close at 4 p.m. Saturday.

The first Bay-Waveland Junior Fishing Rodeo will be held this week, June 27 and 28th at the American Legion Pier at the head of Washington St. It is sponsored by the Bay-Waveland Gun and Rod Club.

All children, ages 5 to 15 years of age are eligible. There will be 64 prizes awarded. A special Blue-Crab division for children aged 4 and 5 will also be held. Admission is free. The members of the club have worked diligently to make this affair a success. Registrations should be entered by Friday morning. Be on hand and have a good time. There will be weigh masters, concessions, etc.

At last fishing conditions are improving. Glad to report that speckle trout were caught out front by the American Legion Pier over the weekend. They are being caught on Shad Rigs, using live shrimp. They are running a bit larger.

If the water clears they will be running up Jourdan River and will probably hit artificial plugs on casting rods. Nice size croakers, ground mullet and flounders are also being caught on dead shrimp. Have been told that some flounders are being speared here and there, and a few soft crabs are making their appearances. Some were caught the past few nights.

Joe Leddy and his granddaughter Julie reported catching some soft crabs the other night. Maybe they are beginning to give.

Bass and perch are being caught on the fly rod where good water can be found. The waters are clearing in most bays. We state again a falling tide is needed for best results. A good place to catch them is over in Wolf River in the DeLisle area and at Salt Bayou over in Louisiana.

Did you know that a water spout is as dangerous as a tornado? One recently was estimated at an altitude of 3,500 feet. They appear over bodies of water. It can cause damage to ships with its violent winds. We have them on the Gulf Coast.

Steelers edge Blues in ten innings

Mark Jenkins doubled home two runs in the top of the tenth inning to give the Pass Christian Steelers an 8-6 win over the Long Beach Blues Tuesday night in Senior Babe Ruth League action.

Jenkins also accounted for four other runs in the game to help the Steelers stay in contention for the league crown. In the first inning, he singled home two runs and then scored still another run to give Pass Christian an early 3-0 lead.

The Blues cut the lead to 3-2 with single runs in the second and sixth innings.

Pass Christian appeared to put the game away in the top of the seventh inning when Vic Swanier singled home Parker

Duplessis and Jenkins to give the Steelers a 5-2 bulge, but in the home half of the inning Steeler pitcher Aaron Swanier ran into control problems and had to be relieved by Myron Cook.

With the bases loaded and no one out, Kevin Cuevas hit a soft ground ball down the third base line. The third baseman fielded the ball and, in an attempt to get the force out at the plate, threw wildly, allowing to runs to score.

The Blues again loaded the bases in the seventh, and Marie drew a base on balls to drive in the tying run.

A Pass Christian rally in the eighth was stopped with an inning-ending double play, and both teams scored single runs in the ninth. Then in the tenth, Duplessis and Cook singled, and Mark Jenkins provided the game-winning hit with two out.

Cook was credited with the pitching win. He pitched four innings in relief, fanned five, walked six. Gary Lunsford was the losing pitcher. He struck out three and passed three in his four innings of relief work.

nice amount of Bass and perch. They are both fly fishing enthusiasts.

Speckle trout are still being caught out front at the American Legion everyday and also along the railroad bridge. Old timers like Ernest Strong, Brother Perri and Horace Farr and others are getting their share of them. They have been running school size but are getting larger. They can be caught with live shrimp on Shad Rigs or even fishing on the bottom with dead shrimp. The pier is a fine place to catch 'em. Free to the public, benches for your convenience and everything.

Is with regret that I announce the death of W. Roy Cagle. He was one of our older fishermen and a real sport in general. Sympathy is extended to members of his family.

All fishing reels should be oiled regularly to keep them working effectively. A sluggish reel can help spoil a good fishing trip.

What most of us fishermen are worrying about is when will the rain stop? Rain is good for watering the garden, the lawns, but when it comes to fishing it's a pain.

Our streams are unfishable due to muddy water. Muddy water is only good for catching catfish if one uses the proper bait. Small perch are an excellent bait. There is nothing wrong with catching catfish.

They are very edible fish, especially fresh water catfish. Hard heads are no good. But channel cat fish are good eating. They are caught mostly in virtually every body of water in the state. Set lines or trout lines is the best method for catching them.

The best way to clean them is to clip off the fins, skin them and tenderize them.

If you catch a big one cut the meat in one inch squares and fry. You will be surprised at the delicious taste. Don't underestimate catfish as a seafood delicacy.

Another place to catch bass and perch is Salt Bayou just north of the Rigolets Bridge on the road to Slidell. But be sure that the tide is falling.

There is a boat ramp at Sam's Place for your launching convenience. This place is just north of Highway 90.

Just to keep you fishermen informed, again we state Pearl River, one of the best spots for fly fishing and casting and its tributaries, are on the dirty side. When going to this section there are several launching sites. For instance, Roy Baxter's Camp at Pearlington, Middle River proper, The Port and Harbor, Bayou Coward and White's Bayou all on Highway 90.

Jourdan River and Bayou La Croix are also clearing. A few speckles are being caught and it is time for them to be up the river. Bass can be caught most anytime at these places when the water and tides are right.

Perch and bass are still being caught by still fishing when using earth worms and dead shrimp. It's the old way for catching them.

Bay overcomes ten-run deficit to win, 18-14

By DAVID PIERSON
Echo Sports Editor

The Bay St. Louis-Diamondhead baseball team spotted the Long Beach Blues ten runs in the first inning and then came back to win 18-14 in a free-swinging Senior Babe Ruth League game Thursday evening. The come-from-behind win preserved Diamondhead's undefeated record and frustrated the winless Blues.

The Blues sent 14 men to the plate and scored ten runs in the first inning to build up what appeared to be an insurmountable lead. Long Beach scored its ten runs on three hits, three errors, three walks, a hit batsman, and a catcher's interference. The big blows in the inning were the back-to-back doubles by Kevin Cuevas and David Croenne.

In the bottom of the first inning, Bay St. Louis started its long odyssey back when Bill Ginn bounced a triple up the middle to score Diamondhead's first run, Bay St. Louis struck for four more runs in the second inning, using just one hit, four walks and two errors to do the damage. David Croenne extended the Blues' lead to 11-5 in the third inning with his second straight run-scoring double. Then in the fourth inning he grounded a bases-loaded single up the middle to help the Blues up the score to 14-6.

In the bottom half of the inning, Bay St. Louis exploded for seven runs. Mike Favre started the inning by singling to right field, stealing second and third bases, then scoring on a wild pickoff throw from the catcher. Favre's baserunning feats went all for naught, however, as Bill Ginn followed with a line drive triple against the fence in center field. Mac McDonald then looped a single to right, scoring Ginn, and four of the next five batters drew bases on balls.

Three more runs scored on consecutive infielding errors. In all, Bay St. Louis scored seven runs on three hits, five walks, and two errors to cut the lead to 14-13.

The following inning, Bay St. Louis scored five more runs after Mac McDonald led off with a fly ball to center that was dropped. Donald Corr singled to center, and Tim Favre lined a single to left-center, scoring McDonald. With one out, Adrian Favre singled to load the bases, and Ricky Adams reached on an infielder error, scoring two runs. Randy Krankey followed with a single to center and cleared the bases when the ball got past the centerfielder.

Mike Favre then singled Tim Favre, who relieved Ricky Adams in the first inning, was credited with the win. Kevin Cuevas was the starting and losing pitcher. Gary Lunsford and Steve Pique, as well as Cuevas, all pitched in relief.

The Blues pitchers issued 13 walks and Bay St. Louis pitcher passed nine.

David Croenne of Long Beach led all hitters with three hits and three RBI's. Bill L. Blues (10) 01300-0-14 109 Bay St. Louis 141750 x-1895

VFW wins twice, moves into first

The VFW pounded out two wins over the league-leading Timber Ridge baseball team to take first place in the Pass Christian Junior Babe Ruth League. Hancock Bank kept itself in the league race with a 17-4 shellacking of Giadrosich Realty.

The VFW capitalized on seven Timber Ridge errors and scored 11 runs in the first inning as the Veterans went on to run up a 12-4 win last Wednesday night over the league leaders.

In the first inning, Timber Ridge committed three straight errors to load the bases and set the stage for the rout. Charles Dedeaux and Cullen Swarier followed with damaging blows to break open the game.

Dedeaux singled to score the game's first run, and Swarier, who finished the game with three hits in four at-bats, followed with a bases-loaded triple.

John Ulrich led the losers with two hits in three plate appearances, and David Dedeaux also went two-for-three for the VFW.

Cullen Swarier allowed just four hits and was credited with the win. Kevin Gallagher was charged with the loss.

VFW (11) 11.00-13.90 Timber Ridge 101.20-4.47 Hancock Bank, 17-4

Charles Lawton drove in six runs with two doubles and hurled a four-hitter as Hancock Bank kept itself in contention for the league title with a 17-4 win over Giadrosich's.

Aaron Barnes, Charles Stewart, and Jim Rafferty all collected two hits apiece to help Hancock Bank's 17-run, 10-hit assault.

Hancock Bank broke open a 4-4 game in the bottom of the second inning when they scored eight times on just five hits. Charles Lawton drove in the first three runs of the inning with a bases-loaded double, and the Hancock batters again loaded the bases for Charles Lawton to deliver a bases-loaded double of his own.

In the third inning Lawton provided his second bases-loaded double of the game to put the contest out of reach. Fred Keel was charged with the pitching loss.

Giadrosich's 400.00-4.42 Hancock Bank 481.40-17.01

VFW, 7-6 The VFW baseball team moved into first place in the league standings when they scored seven runs on just two hits to edge Timber Ridge 7-6 in a protested game.

The dispute centered around a Timber Ridge run that was disallowed in the six-run third inning because there was apparently a timeout.

Wayne and John Ulrich of Timber Ridge, as well as Karl Bowser of the VFW, all collected doubles in the game.

Cullen Swarier was awarded the pitching win, and Wayne Ulrich was the loser.

Riding club holds first awards banquet

More than 125 people attended the Hancock County Riding Club's first annual awards banquet Friday night at Scaffidi's Wheel Inn Restaurant for the presentation of the year's high-point awards.

Those receiving the high-point awards were as follows: Dion Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Lee (pony award); Chip Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lee (12 years and under award); Billy Wayne Ladner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Ladner (13-18 year-old award); Mrs. Gerald Shaw (ladies' award); and Edwin Ladner (men's award).

Billy Wayne Ladner and Chip Lee — as well as Travis Favre, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marly Favre — were presented with sportsmanship awards. Travis Favre and Dion Lee also received the first 45-point trophies awarded by the South Mississippi Horse Show and Rodeo Association in the pony division. The Hancock County Riding Club was instrumental in getting the pony division recognized by the south state association. David Lee, the president of the South Mississippi Horse Show and Rodeo Association, was presented with the outstanding member award. Lesley Russ, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Russ, received the only standing ovation of the evening when he was awarded a special award for his work with the riding club.

The guest speaker Gil Switzer, president of the Mississippi Quarterhorse Association, pointed out to those attending the banquet that the Quarterhorse Futurity at Ruidosa Downs in New Mexico has a larger purse than the combined purses of thoroughbred racing's triple crown — the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness, and the Belmont Stakes.

New officers were also installed at the meeting. They are as follows: Ronnie Guilbeau, president; David Lee, vice-president; Emmett Demoran, treasurer; Mrs. Pat Favre, secretary; Mrs. Nancy Russ, publicity director; and Mrs. Betty Young Haas, representative.

Steelers nip Rebels at home

Myron Cook of the Pass Christian Steelers stroked a run-scoring single and provided the game's outstanding defensive play as the Steelers nipped the Harrison Central Red Rebels 2-1 Thursday evening in Senior Babe Ruth League action.
Cook's hit in the sixth inning scored Paul Stewart from second base with the winning run. Earlier in the game, Cook defused a potential Harrison Central rally when he threw out a runner at the plate with a perfect strike from center field.
The Steelers scored the first run of the game in the second inning when Perry Jenkins walked, stole second, and scored on a line drive single to right-center by Steve Tate.

Harrison Central came back to tie the game in the third, but their chances for a big inning were snuffed out when two runners were thrown out at the plate.
Willie Willis singled with one out and advanced to third base on a double by Jerry Smith to start the Harrison Central uprising. Jerry Knight then hit a ground ball to shortstop Parker Duplessis who threw to the plate to nab Willis trying to score.
Vince Necessary followed with a single, scoring Smith from third base, but the rally was thwarted when Knight tried to score from second base on a single by Joe Ford. Ford lined the single up the middle, but center fielder Cook short-hopped the ball and fired to the plate to nail the runner by ten feet.

"It was the big defensive play of the game," said Steeler coach John Tate.
"Cook's throw stopped them from a big inning."
Neither team threatened until the sixth when Pass Christian pushed across the winning run. Paul Stewart singled with one out, advanced to second on a base on balls by Perry Jenkins, and then scored on Cook's two-out single. Brent Jenkins walked to load the bases, but Willis retired the next batter to prevent any further damage.
